These works may be put into all kinds of locks without increasing their bulk, and the bolt may be made to take on one side of the lock or on the other. The lower ascending lever has an iron plate attached to it, the use of which, besides receiving the key and thus bringing it down to its central place, is, that it stands as a complete guard in front of the riding lever which descends. The lever on the top of the bolt is also of a new construction, having the lower levers working in its racks, and refusing to let them pass till it is brought to its proper position; on which account I have named it the master lever. I am, Sir, c. 8cc. 8cc. MOSES SOMEBOFORD. Reference to Mr. Somefoed s Door Lock, --Plate XIII Fig. 1, a front view of...
