Excerpt: .that any painter of talent feels at home in them at once. It is very different in the case of the toil-deformed subjects that Millet elevated into art, making them as impressive as Greig s Funeral March. That seems right enough, said the Man with a Clay Pipe. Yet I fail to see what good we can gain from this conversation. Is it not best to take with thankfulness and admiration from each man that which he has to give? Unquestionably, the Critic replied. It is not an easy thing to do, continued the Man with a Clay Pipe, and I am sure that we cannot hope to do it if we befog our minds with theories on beauty and the choice of pictorial subjects. The principle of beauty, according to the good old Roman definition, is multitude in unity; and I am happy...
